'Silicon Valley' initiative a huge jobs boost for Essex

THOUSANDS of new jobs could be created in Essex after plans for three medical technology centres were revealed, including one in Southend.

Essex County Council has pledged £2.5 million towards Anglia Ruskin University's £5 million new MedTech Innovation Centre at Harlow.

Two more centres are planned at Southend and Chelmsford.

A spokesman for Essex County Council said: "Investment in the campuses will help to establish Essex, and the UK, as a global leader in this sector and will secure local and national economic growth."

The County Hall spokesman described the first Essex science park as the latest step towards Essex 'rivaling America's famous Silicon Valley'.

The Harlow centre alone, on the 25-acre Harlow Science Park, will create 500 jobs. The site will focus on high-technology businesses in the Life Science, ICT and Advanced Manufacturing sectors and provide more than 500,000 square feet of space with the potential to employ up to 3,000 people.

Councillors and ministers announced last month that University of Essex was to lead a campaign to make the county a global centre for computer gaming.

Professor Iain Martin, vice chancellor of Anglia Ruskin University said: "This is an extremely exciting project with the potential to help the county become a world leader in the medical technology sector.

Essex business leaders in the technology and innovation sector have welcomed the county's response to the government's Industrial Strategy.

David Burch, director of policy at Essex Chambers of Commerce, added: "We look forward to working together - strengthening business and promoting innovation and opportunity in Essex."

The deal was announced as Essex published a special report in response to the government's Industrial Strategy, which showcases the county as a key investment area for central Government to realise its ambitions.

Anglia Ruskin University, supported by Essex County Council, has a vision to establish three MedTech Campus Science Parks at Chelmsford, Harlow and Southend, of which the Harlow MedTech Innovation Centre is a part.

These campuses aim to create one of the world's largest health innovation hubs, attracting international and national companies around the innovative medical technology sector.

SOUTHEND Council has confirmed that a plan to demolish its tower blocks and create 400 houses has moved to the next phase with the process of selecting a partner to deliver the project set to start.

A report due to be considered at a meeting of Southend Council's cabinet on Tuesday sets out an update on the Better Queensway project.

The project is a regeneration project on the Queensway estate – aimed at transforming part of the town centre.

A number of recommendations are made in the report, which seeks approval to start the procurement process.

The report focuses on agreeing the council's expectations and ambitions for the project.

These include a minimum of 441 affordable homes are included in the scheme, returning council tenants retaining the 'right to buy' clause and the inclusion for the principle of a community fund.

A council spokesman confirmed the process to select a partner to deliver the project with the council will start in May, with a decision due by January 2018.

Cllr Ann Holland, deputy leader of the council, said: "I am pleased that this project is progressing so well."

"It is the biggest and most ambitious and transformational regeneration project that the council has undertaken in recent memory and it vital that we follow due process and get this detailed work done before starting the procurement process."

The report also confirms the tower blocks will be demolished as part of the scheme.

The council spokesman said initial demolition notices will be served at the same time as a resident offer handbook being distributed, that will make clear the options available to residents.

A preferred transport option has also been completed which will allow new traffic movements in and out of Short Street, a reconfigured Southchurch Road and widened Chichester Road and a realigned one-way link between Southchurch Road and Sutton Road.

Cabinet will also consider a borough-wide decent policy that will apply to the Better Queensway project, but also any other major regeneration projects in the future.

This sets out the home loss and disturbance payments that residents will be eligible for.

A local lettings policy has also been developed and was set to be considered at the same meeting, which would allow people who want to move away from the Queensway estate the right to apply to be on the housing register if they are not already, and give additional priority to those already on the list to help them move.

Cllr Holland added: "We are clear that residents will be offered new tenancies on the same terms and conditions as their current ones and will be offered assistance to move if they do not want to be part of the regenerated estate through a newly created local letting policy."

"The report also clearly sets out what we want from the project and what we expect from any partner, to ensure that we deliver our aims and ambitions for the current residents of the Queensway estate, the council, and the borough as a whole."

Car fumes killed couple

By Charles Thomson

basildon@yellowad.co.uk

TWO YOUNG people found dead inside a car in Chelmsford last year died of carbon monoxide poisoning, an inquest has determined.

Thomas Putt, 20, of Wren Close in Leigh, and Nikki Willis, 23, of Fox Crescent, Chelmsford, were both found dead in Mr Putt's Ford Fiesta in Fox Crescent on December 5.

Essex Police said tests were carried out on the car which "found modifications had been made", which caused 1,000 times more than the normal amount of carbon monoxide to fill up the car.

Mr Putt worked as an engineer at Ford.

Detective Inspector Rob Kirby said: A unique series of events came together which led to this tragic incident to taking place.

"The combination of the modifications, the cold, still weather and the engine running whilst the car was stationary, all contributed to what happened that night."

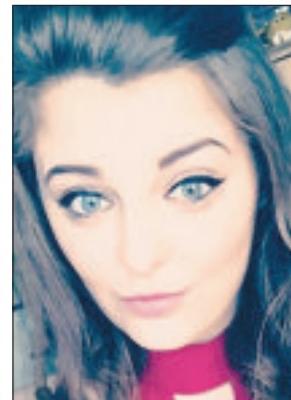

"When modified, vehicles can produce significant quantities of carbon monoxide. This car was found to emit levels 1,000 times higher than a factory standard identical vehicle."

"There are inherent dangers in modifying vehicles. Even if you think you know what you are doing, this can still lead to unintended consequences."

"If you have carried out modifications on your vehicle, I urge you to satisfy yourself that these modifications are legal, and more importantly, safe, by consulting a qualified mechanic."

"Essex Police along with Tom and Nikki's families want to ensure a tragic event like this can never happen again. Please have your vehicle checked."

The inquest, held on Tuesday, March 21, ruled that the deaths were accidental.

FATAL Willis (left) and Putt had no idea of high levels of carbon monoxide

Sport CDI, Playstation games consoles, jewellery, a piggy bank and a CD cover signed by Little Mix.

DC Rachel Martin, of Southend CID, said: "These burglaries are believed to be linked and I am appealing for witnesses who saw anyone acting suspiciously in these areas in recent weeks."

"I am also keen to hear from anyone who has been offered for sale items similar to those stolen or knows of their whereabouts."

"I ask residents to be vigilant and to make sure doors are double locked and windows safely secured. If you do see anyone acting suspiciously, note down descriptions of suspects and vehicles."

Essex girl twist for modern classic

THE Queen's Theatre is offering two lucky winners the chance to win a pair of tickets to see Willy Russell's inspirational comedy, Educating Rita.

The Hornchurch venue is set to stage a refreshing take of the classic with Rita being portrayed as an Essex girl instead of a Liverpudlian.

Educating Rita, which runs from April 22 to May 13, is a hilarious yet moving story about a working-class hairdresser determined to better herself with higher education.

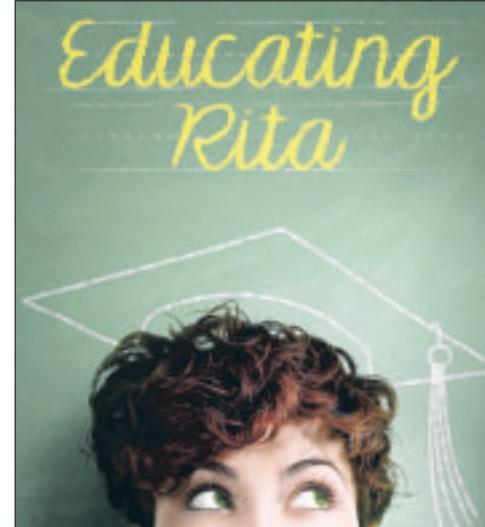

Frank becomes her assigned tutor, but grudgingly accepts the challenge. Slowly, he realises that his enthusiastic student has much to teach him too – making him question himself, his work and his very being in the process.

Playing whisky-loving Open University Professor Frank Bryant is Ruairi Conaghan. He has an expansive theatre career working in the West End, off Broadway and has performed alongside Benedict Cumberbatch in Hamlet at the Barbican in 2015.

Danielle Flett is gobby hairdresser Rita. She was most recently seen performing alongside Kit Harington (TV's Game of Thrones) in Jamie Lloyd's 2016 West End production of Doctor Faustus and is currently filming for a role in the new BBC comedy series White Gold which stars Joe Thomas and James Buckley (The Inbetweeners).

For the first time in Queen's Theatre history, audiences will be able to get up close to the action as the theatre will be extending the stage into the auditorium to offer a unique and intimate setting.

Veteran exhibition to honour heroes

AN EXHIBITION has opened at a museum in Southend, throwing light on the history of veterans.

Veterans: A Shared Experience went on display at Southend Central Museum on Saturday, March 25.

The exhibition sees local servicemen and women share their memories of conflict through interviews, oral history and portrait photography.

It was launched with a private viewing for Southend veterans on Saturday.

Cllr Ann Holland, executive councillor for culture, tourism and the economy, said: "This exhibition will bring the actions of our local servicemen and women to the forefront of our minds."

"It will leave visitors with a deeper connection to the past and to those who fought for our freedoms today."

"We are very thankful as, without the help of our veterans and their loved ones, some whom have sadly passed during this project, we would not be able to bring this exhibition to the people of Southend."

The exhibition will run until March 24, 2018.

Students' auction raises £1,600 for end-of-year show

STUDENTS from South Essex College organised an auction to raise money for an end-of-year show.

Third-year graphic design students, who all study at the college's University Centre Southend, contacted graphic designers and illustrators such as Anthony Burrill, David Carson, Chris Riddell and Oliver Jeffers, who donated work for the event.

Held in the college's Southend Campus Gallery, on Luker Road, the donated work was exhibited alongside pieces from the students as well as the lecturers.

Guests had a chance to view the work before bidding on individual pieces.

The event raised more than £1,600, which will go towards the group's final degree show at D&AD New Blood in London.

Graphic design student Ellise Collins, 21, from Leigh, said: "The auction went brilliantly, definitely better than expected."

"Even the student work, including mine and my fellow peers, sold for lots of money, which felt great and rewarding.

"We've had a really great response from the people that came, everyone said how professional and well run the event was.

"I've spent this weekend talking with the artists and designers who sent in work and invited them to our end-of-year show.

"Nearly all of them said they would come along to support us, which is so kind."

St Luke's Health Centre set to stay in temporary home

A PLANNING application has been submitted to keep St Luke's Health Centre in temporary premises for the next 18 months.

NHS Southend Clinical Commissioning Group (CCG) has put forward the application to Southend Council to keep the St Luke's GP practice in temporary buildings in Pantile Avenue.

A CCG spokesman said the council had asked for a detailed application to confirm there were comprehensive plans in place to develop and refurbish Cumberlege Lodge, also in Pantile Avenue.

If the planning permission is granted, it would enable the St Luke's practice to stay in temporary premises while the Cumberlege Lodge plans are taken forward.

Dr José Garcia Lobera, chair of NHS Southend CCG, said:

"We understand entirely why Southend's planning officers wanted these reassurances and are confident our application will show the commitment being made to this development and the amount of work and planning we have put in place to ensure its realisation."

The plans will be considered by councillors at a meeting in early May.

NEWS IN BRIEF

- COUNCIL chiefs met with Essex Police last week to discuss how to 'manage' allegedly unlawful traveller camps. A final protocol will be published in May.

- THE ESSEX Energy Switch has reached an all-time high of more than 7,000.

Essex County Council said the scheme has helped save residents and businesses £2million on gas and electricity bills, saving £109 on average.

To find out more and to sign up from April 4, visit: essex.gov.uk/energyswitch

The auction will be held on May 23.

- A NETWORK of autism support centres will open in Essex ahead of World Autism Awareness Week.

Eight centres will have admissions managed by Essex County Council, including: Merrylands in Basildon and Bromfords in Wickford.

Flat Roofing Guaranteed for Life

Advertorial

Around 70% of homes in the UK incorporate a mineral felt flat roof.

Mineral felt generally has a slow breakdown often allowing water ingress to cause unnecessary damage before anything can be visibly detected within the home.

A failing roof & the warning signs - Look for signs of cracking around the roof edge, pipes, upstands and roof lights etc.

Beware of blisters on the roof surface, during colder months they can become brittle and crack. Felt will attract moss and algae further degrading the roof surface.

IMPORTANT: - ALL PROPERTY OWNERS PLEASE BE AWARE when a flat roof is replaced there are Part L Building Regulations that the homeowner and the contractor must comply with. Please call for free information regarding the Part L Law. The home-

READERS' LETTERS

We need another say on Brexit

THERESA May promised to "negotiate hard" for the best possible deal for Britain as we leave the European Union when it was announced that she will trigger the beginning of formal withdrawal talks on March 29.

"We are going to be out there, negotiating hard, delivering on what the British people voted for," she said.

Well at least, over the next two years of negotiations, the British people will finally find out what they are going to get ... as opposed to what they thought they voted for.

And if what they will be getting is going to be painfully nothing like what they thought they'd voted for surely, in the name of all things decently democratic, they will have to have another say on the matter.

If not, it will be an affront to the democracy of this nation as a hard-right faction of the Conservative Party take it upon themselves to interpret the referendum result as they see fit in their own ideological way.

And who in their right mind voted for that?

Yes or no too simple

FRED Nicholson's letter (YA March 24) in calling for Brexit

now sums up perfectly why the Government was wrong to take an issue as complex as our membership of the European Union and boil it down to a choice of "in" or "out".

What the Government is trying to do is develop a strategy for leaving the EU that minimises the negative impacts of withdrawal from the world's largest free trade area. This is a complicated issue and I am sure that the Brexit Ministers themselves underestimated just how difficult this will be.

In the past few days we have seen airlines, Mini and Goldman Sachs suggest they will have to leave the UK and record numbers of nurses have already gone. Inflation is now rising and WTO tariffs, which Boris Johnson claims would not be a problem, would add 45 per cent to the cost of your Sunday joint.

In his desire to leave now, no doubt for vague concepts like "taking back control", Mr Nicholson clearly either doesn't know or doesn't care what the impact will be on the UK.

We know that the economy will be smaller and us Brits will be poorer, we also know that significant sectors of the UK economy such as agriculture, catering and hospitality, caring, and distribution and logistics, will struggle to find employees to fill posts, pushing up costs for the consumer.

How far does this self-destruction have to continue before the Brexiteers begin to question the choice they so clearly made out of sheer ignorance. Perhaps if our politicians hadn't spent the last 40 years blaming the EU for their own cock-ups we could have had an informed debate about our membership.

And I'm pretty sure the result would have been different.

Invest in the security of our citizens

THE Westminster atrocity is indeed depraved, as Prime Minister May says.

All thoughts are with the victims' families and those recovering from injuries.

This kind of random attack is so very difficult to prevent in our free society, but we say that re-investment must be made in both the police and anti-terrorism services to give greater security to citizens and ensure everyday life carries on.

Cllr Mark Flewitt and Cllr Steve Buckley

Hospice messed up marathon

HAVENS Hospice is a very worthy charity, but this is the second time the management has upset people in our area.

They wasted thousands of pounds of charity money pursuing building a hospice on green belt land at Belton Way in Leigh and now they have upset seafront traders by not organising the Southend Marathon properly.

When it comes to health charities some people immediately believe they can't do anything wrong and blame everyone else for their mistakes.

It is doubtful the hospice management are volunteers but are probably being paid a very substantial wage for their services.

At least they have apologised for their shortcomings but they must get their act together for future events.

In my opinion the people that blamed and insulted the seafront traders should now hang their heads in shame.

Alan James

A&E dept downgrade

DESPITE assurances, accident and emergency provision at Southend University Hospital is going to be downgraded.

It is not a question of 'if', but of 'how much?' This affects not only the blue light services, those people conveyed by ambulance, but also those that arrive at A&E under their own steam.

The proposals do not include a 'none of the above' option, and so only Basildon will have a full A&E operation, whilst Chelmsford and Southend are seeing changes. This has ramifications beyond the quality of healthcare provided.

The most obvious objection, oft repeated in almost every conversation I have had on this subject, are on the subject of extended journey times. Those living in the east of the Borough will not only drive past Southend Hospital, but whilst doing will be doubtless noting that their journey is not even at the halfway mark.

When every second counts, substantially increasing journey times is a very bad idea indeed.

But what of those whose treatment is done? However you look at it, getting back from Basildon could be very expensive, and taxi fares in the middle of the night will hit hard-worked pockets.

Visitors will also have to endure longer journey times, meaning for some that a visit will become rarer, if not abandoned as impossible.

Of course I will be defending my local hospital, a building close enough to be viewed from my childhood bedroom window. But I am not looking to get one over on Basildon and Chelmsford. I weep at their degradation too.

It looks like the National Health Service is getting harder to access, contrary to the ideals of those who founded it in the immediate aftermath of the Second World War.

Shortsighted of tin foil Theresa

JOHN Maynard Keynes, in my opinion the greatest economist of all time, said: "When facts change I change my mind".

I suspect this is so with many who voted to leave the EU thus causing so much anguish with hardline brexiters.

Immigration was probably the main concern for leavers and we now learn greater numbers came from outside the EU area.

Prime Minister May is incredibly intransigent in not giving an undertaking to our existing EU residents. So short sighted.

If not resolved satisfactorily we will lose over three million, many providing health and care services, and in return receive some one million repatriated, many elderly and retired in need of care.

Not so much Iron lady as tin foil Theresa.

STANDING UP FOR SCHMUCKS

By Liz Wade & Ben Williams

features@yellowad.co.uk

AWARD-WINNING comedian and actor Omid Djalili will be treating an audience at Cliffs Pavilion to his unique brand of humour.

He will be at the Southend theatre on April 8, on the last leg of a 108-date tour, which kicked off in October last year and has been criss-crossing the UK ever since.

It finishes at the Hammersmith Apollo in London on May 20.

In this latest show, Schmuck For A Night, Omid tries to make sense of the world around him.

"I like the word schmuck," he said. "It means fool or buffoon. You have to be a schmuck to do comedy in today's climate."

"I'm embracing the schmuck in me to take on the big issues of our day. Plus, it's a word that ends with 'uck' which can only be a good thing."

Touching on Brexit, ISIS and Trump, Omid admits each show will be "so current sometimes audiences won't laugh until they get home and turn on the TV".

While his dance moves may have been prominent on his past tours, Omid admits that he has become less frenetic.

"I used to dance every two minutes in between the stand-up. I can't even remember why."

"It was mentioned to me that when I danced audiences were laughing at me not with me."

"So it was either stop dancing or ban my manager from the gigs."

While some may be disappointed at the lack of dancing, they are delighted with his new tour, with reviews describing it as a "confident, engaging, thoughtful show" and "hugely enjoyable".

As a stand-up and acclaimed actor, Omid's credits range from Hollywood movies and television to live productions in the West End. He has appeared on UK and US TV, and starred in films such as Shaun the Sheep Movie, Mr Nice, Gladiator, Sex And The City 2, The Mummy and The Infidel.

On TV Omid has been seen in the BBC Four series Going Forward with Jo Brand, as well as in Dickensian for BBC1 and Stan Lee's Lucky Man for SKY1.

He has executively produced the acclaimed documentary We Are Many, about the global anti-war demonstrations that took place in 800 cities on February 15, 2003, to date the largest mobilisation of human beings in history.

Last August, he produced Edinburgh Fringe show Iraq Out & Loud, which saw almost 1,500 comedians and members of the public read the entire Chilcot Report for 24 hours a day, over 12 days.

This memorable production was awarded the Panel Prize at Edinburgh Comedy Awards, and later TV Bomb's Zeitgeist Award.

Omid might now be known to millions for his roles in Hollywood blockbusters and West End appearances, but he started his career in fringe theatre, moving on to the theatres of central and eastern Europe in the early 1990s, and then the alternative comedy circuit. Although he has swapped dingy pub rooms for big theatres, it is still on stage doing stand-up where he is at his best.

Having been cast in Disney's The Nutcracker, alongside Morgan Freeman and Keira Knightley, Omid is not daunted with the task of filming alongside the tour, then showing up at a theatre to do stand-up.

"You'd think it'd be weird but it has never phased me," he said.

"Once in Barnet years ago I was late so didn't change and came straight to the theatre from the set of The Mummy at Shepperton Studios and walked straight on stage in my film costume.

"I went on stage in full 1930s Egyptian prison warden garb. I even heard a crowd member say, 'Well at least he's making an effort'."

Away from stand-up, Omid has an impressive acting CV and has worked with the likes of Russell Crowe, Brad Pitt, Robert Redford, Johnny Depp, Mike Myers and Sarah Jessica Parker, but who has been most fun to work with?

"That's a tough one," he says.

FILM GUIDE*Keith shot me about 14 times*From page 25

"I'd say, and anyone who's worked with him as an actor would agree, Keith Richards from the Rolling Stones, was probably the most extraordinary."

"He played the father of Captain Jack Sparrow (Johnny Depp) in Pirates of the Caribbean 3.

"His character shoots and kills my character for no reason."

"This seemed to bother him. In fact, he shot me about 14 times and after each take he'd come up to me and say, 'Listen, you do know I don't mean this?'

"It was almost like a joke but it wasn't. Bang! and he'd shuffle up and say, 'Nothing personal, mate, I hope you realise'.

"Then after another take, with the same sincerity and intensity - 'It's all acting. You know that. You're not upset with me, are you?'

"Once he shot me and just said: 'Forgive them Lord, they know not what they do'.

"The final time he shot me, he just stood over me and mumbled: 'We've all got issues... it's all about mummy, innit?'

"How right he was."

GHOST IN THE SHELL (12A, 107 mins)

BASED on the cult Japanese manga of the same title, Ghost In The Shell is an action-packed futuristic thriller directed by Rupert Sanders, set in a world where an elusive hacker is wreaking havoc by leaping into the minds of unsuspecting strangers.

The year is 2029 and cyborg counter-terrorist field commander The Major (Scarlett Johansson) leads her team, Public Security Section 9, under the aegis of Chief Daisuke Aramaki (Takeshi Kitano). Her squad includes Batou (Pilou Abaek), Togusa (Chin Han) and Ishikawa (Lazarus Ratuere).

They are the guardians of a world reliant on the artificial technology produced by Hanka Robotics, and join The Major in her high octane battles with cyberterrorists including Kuze (Michael Pitt), who seeks to exploit loopholes for nefarious gain.

A new adversary runs amok and The Major and her cohorts pool their resources to unmask the shadowy figures behind the conspiracy.

Baileys and cream. Should you wish to share an even bigger monster size ice cream there are the 'sharing desserts' such as the Doubly Divine, Luscious Luxury and Twix as Good.

Swift Swiss roll by Suzuki

By Stewart Smith

FOLLOWING its launch in Japan last year, Suzuki has unveiled the European version of its new Swift supermini at the Geneva Motor Show.

The Swift is an important model for Suzuki and has notched up 5.4million sales globally in less than 12 years, making it the Japanese car maker's fastest seller.

The car sits on the same platform Suzuki has used for its new Baleno and Ignis models and the new Swift is some 120kg lighter overall.

Although slightly shorter than the previous model the new Swift has a longer wheelbase which has created more interior space.

Luggage space is also up 25 per cent to 254 litres.

Engines in the new Swift will include Suzuki's new 1.0-litre three cylinder Boosterjet turbo block with an output of 111bhp and the more established 1.2-litre Dualjet power plant which develops 90bhp.

The new

Swift will also be available as a four-wheel drive model with the ALLGRIP 4x4 system an option on the top range SZ5 model fitted with the 1.2-litre engine.

Acceleration time to 62mph is 11.9 seconds for two-wheel drive 1.2-litre Swift and 12.6 seconds for the ALLGRIP four-wheel-drive model. The SZ5 models come with a 4.2-inch high definition colour LCD display in the instrument panel that shows a range of information including engine output and torque data, fuel consumption, average speed, acceleration and brake operation as well as driving G-force tracking.

Southend enhance play-off chances as Wombles wilt at home

AFC Wimbledon 0
Southend United 2

Brian Jeeves reporting from Kingsmeadow

SOUTHEND United manager, Phil Brown, celebrated four years in the Roots Hall hot seat as his side continued their assault on a Sky Bet League One play-off berth with a comfortable 2-0 victory over AFC Wimbledon.

With a top-six spot almost beyond the mid-table host's, many believed they could approach the Blues visit in a relaxed mood. Nevertheless, a brace of recent clean sheets, which included a notable 2-0 success over bitter rivals, MK Dons, suggested that Wimbledon would be more than a match for Phil Brown's charges.

Blues arrived at Kingsmeadow having recorded back-to-back victories over Coventry City and Walsall and sitting in the final League One play-off places after Swindon Town had grabbed a late winner to deny Millwall the chance of leapfrogging the Roots Hall outfit into sixth place in the days early fixture.

Early exchanges were somewhat untidy. Tom Elliott nodded Andy Barcham's centre wide of the mark as the homes side created the first clear-cut opportunity, while Wimbledon goalkeeper, James Shea, did well to turn aside Anthony Wordsworth's low strike as the Blues responded.

Barcham and Tom Soares were both wayward as Wimbledon continued to press. However, ten minutes before the break, Nile Ranger expertly tiptoed through the Wimbledon rearguard before planting an angled effort low beyond Shea to hand Southend the lead.

The home side looked for an immediate response. Taylor was a whisker away from a telling contact with Soares pinpoint pass, while Jason Demetriou was thwarted by Shea as the sides exchanged opportunities as the half drew to its conclusion.

Elliott's attempt drifted the wrong side of an upright, while Jake Reeves strike was deflected behind as Wimbledon looked to restore parity immediately after the break. In between, Simon Cox wasn't far away from doubling Southend's advantage, Shea denying the one-time West Bromwich Albion striker with a flying save low to his right.

But just after the hour mark Cox responded the quickest to some hesitant defending before fiercely lashing a right-footed strike past the helpless Shea for Southend's second of the afternoon.

Blues were now comfortably in the ascendancy with both Cox and Ranger proving to be a constant threat to the despondent home side. Substitute, Theo Robinson, should have put the contest out of reach, scuffing against the outside of a post after wriggling clear of a static backline.

But there was to be no further addition to the scoring. This victory left Blues in sixth place and looking good as the campaign reaches its final hurdles.

Speaking after the match, Brown said: "You guys have been with me for four years and will know that my favourite score is 1-0, but I'll take the clean sheet on my fourth anniversary."

"It wasn't going to be a classic because of the state of play, the windy conditions, the ball bouncing. It was quite a hard surface to get some football played on. We had to go back more or less to the Coventry tactic, putting it into areas and putting the back three on the back foot."

On Ranger's sensational opening goal, Brown added: "The first goal, that's out of the top draw. It doesn't matter what division you are playing in, if you see something like that on a Saturday you realise how special the player is. He worked his socks off for the team, Nile Ranger, he got his reward. So did Coxy (Simon Cox), he got his reward as well. We were so bitterly disappointed that Theo's (Theo Robinson) chance hit the post and gone wide because when he came on, he worked his socks off as well."

"It's not just the strikers. The work rate of the midfield four was outstanding. Will Atkinson personified that in front of me in the second half. Lenny (Ryan Leonard) was priceless to the team. He's a goal threat, but it was a difficult surface for him, the same for Macca (Stephen McLaughlin).

"The back four are delighted to get a clean sheet, but I thought it was a team clean sheet today."

"Things today seemed to go in the right direction. As a fourth anniversary that's a lovely present for me."

Meanwhile, Blues striker, Simon Cox, said: "We knew coming here was going to be a tough game. A small pitch, they are big and strong. We had to come here and do a professional job."

"We knew we were going to

Clarets enhance their play-off credentials

By Brian Jeeves

NATIONAL League South play-off hopefuls, Chelmsford City, did their play-off ambitions the power of good with a resounding 5-1 victory over struggling Gosport Borough at the Melbourne Stadium.

The Clarets were given an early shock when Ben Wright handed the visitors a fifth-minute lead. However, a brace from Kane Haysman along with further goals from Louie Theophanous, Anthony Church and Chris Dickson ensured City all three points.

It proved to be a good day for the region's other National South clubs as a Jordan Chiedozie double helped Concord Rangers to a 2-0 victory over Hemel Hempstead Town at the Aspect Arena, while Chelmsford's Essex Senior Cup final opponents, East Thurrock United, were 3-1 winners at Weston-Super-Mare. Femi Akinwande (2) and Reece Harris with the all-important Rocks goals.

There were mixed fortunes for the region's teams in the National League's top division. Frankie Raymond's late goal earned Dagenham & Redbridge a 1-0 win over relegation-haunted York City at Victoria Road. Meanwhile, Braintree Town were sunk by the same margin at Trammere Rovers. Andy Cook with the only goal shortly before the hour mark.

Billericay Town continued their late push from a Ryman League Premier Division play-off place with a comfortable 3-0 win over Dulwich Hamlet at Champion Hill. Adam Cunningham, Joseph Ellul and Jake Robinson found the net for the Blues in front of a bumper crowd of 2,805.

A Chidi Williams-Agunabor strike wasn't enough to save Grays Athletic from a 3-1 loss at the hands of Enfield Town. Elsewhere, Canvey Island's five-match winning streak was brought to its conclusion as league leaders, Bognor Regis Town, saw off the Gulls by four goals to nil at Nyewood Lane.

In Ryman League Division One North Great Wakering Rovers staged an incredible fightback against Waltham Abbey at Burroughs Park. Rovers trailed 3-0 thanks to goals from Billy Holland, Arian Retkoceri and Romaric Logon, but staged a superb recovery to earn a 3-3 draw thanks to Jake Gordon, Scott Pethers and Stephen Butterworth. However, the point wasn't enough to save the villagers from relegation. They will be playing their football in the Essex Senior League next season.

Martin Tuohy's double saw AFC Hornchurch beat Norwich United 2-0 at Bridge Avenue, while Liam Nash's early strike was enough for Maldon & Tiptree to bag the points at Thamesmead Town.

Aveley were 1-0 winners at Wroxham, Mason Bloomfield with the only goal, while Glenn Poole hit the winner as Thurrock won by the same scoreline at Cheshunt. Romford also had a narrow single-goal success, Chinuedi McKenzie, ensuring visitors Bury Town went home empty handed.

Adam Adeoye Yusuff and Reece Grant helped Heybridge Swifts to a 2-1 win over Ware at the Scratley Road Stadium, while Ryan Charles and Max Bradford were on target as Witham Town edged out Tilbury by the odd goal in three. Tony Martin came up with the Dockers response from the penalty spot.

Lamar Reynolds' late penalty helped Brentwood Town to a 1-1 draw at VCD Athletic. However, it was a bad day at the office for Bowers & Pitsea, who crashed 2-0 at Soham Town Rangers.

In the Essex Senior League, leaders Barking were 2-0 winners over Eton Manor at Mayesbrook Park. Basildon United saw off Redbridge by three goals to one, while Enfield 1893 stunned Ilford with a 4-1 success.

Southend Manor won 3-2 against Tower Hamlets at the Southchurch Park Arena, while Takeley were 2-0 winners at Sporting Bengal United. Barkingside and Haringey & Waltham played out a 1-1 draw.

Selected highlights from the ProKit UK Essex Olympian League - May & Baker EC were 4-1 winners over Harold Hill, while Rayleigh Town picked up a 3-2 success over Frenford Senior.

Basildon Town continued their relentless march towards the Division One title with a 3-0 win over Old Southendian. Catholic United kept up the pressure with a 3-0 triumph over Great Baddow.

Big winners in Division One were Shenfield AFC who scored five without reply against Newham United.

Game of the day in Division Two saw Benfleet edge out Ryan FC by four goals to three, while Ramsden Scotia were also in form, seeing off Upminster 4-2.
